

Photalia, a subsidiary of Vergnet, wins an award for dynamism in export

Ormes, 11 December 2013

On 6 December 2013 Photalia, a subsidiary of the Vergnet group, won an award for dynamism in export at the 3rd annual Export Awards for eco-businesses. The prize was awarded during the Pollutec exhibition.

The eco-businesses Export Awards honours French eco-companies on an international level for their dynamism, success and innovation.

The panel of judges includes the main institutional players who represent French know-how in the eco-technologies and export fields: ADEME, UBIFRANCE, bpiFrance, AFD, MEDDE, PEEX DGCIS, Reed Expositions France, competitive clusters (AXELERA, EAU, TEAM2, ADVANCITY).

This prize follows on from the award presented to Vergnet last June by the World Wind Energy Association and pays tribute to the whole Group's dynamism on an international level, which accounts for more than 98% of its business.

About Vergnet SA

The VERGNET Group is currently the leading specialist in renewable energies in challenging environments and an industry benchmark in its three core businesses: the design and production of wind turbines for the PROXWIND® and FARWIND® markets, water supply equipment in Africa and photovoltaic solar energy and hybrid plants worldwide. On the back of signal patented technologies, the Group has already installed 830 wind turbines, and supplies water to over 50 million people worldwide. The FARWIND® market covers over 130 countries in which electricity is mainly produced from oil and where the infrastructure and limited logistical resources rule out the installation of conventional wind turbines. The Group has 11 facilities worldwide (France, the Caribbean, the Pacific and Indian Oceans, Africa) and some 341 employees. The VERGNET Group has been listed on the Alternext market since 12 June 2007 (FR0004155240 – ALVER).
